20 Additional Vetoes Facing Ohio Lawmakers

DiSalle Turns Down 7 More Measures; Total Now at 13

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said he may have as many as 20 additional vetoes ready for the Legislature when it returns Friday for final adjournment.

The governor vetoed seven legislative enactments Monday, running his total so far to 13. He signed 32 of the Legislature's enactments into law, effective in 90 days.

The Legislature has overridden only his veto of the so-called "fair trade" law, allowing minimum retail prices of trade-marked items.

Since the Legislature ended working sessions July 25, he has signed 148 of the 176 bills sent to him in the closing rush. The rest are under consideration.

Monday he vetoed enactments making the death penalty mandatory for the willful slaying of a game protector, forest or park officer; changing nuisance laws to make them apply to newspapers, magazines or other publications entered as second class mailing matter and providing for community colleges with state aid.

Other vetoes knocked out attempts to require reflective materials on traffic signs after Jan. 1, cut from six to four feet the permissible height of hedge fences along public highways, give township employees a seventh paid holiday annually and require approval of rural subdivision plats by township trustees.

During his press conference Monday, the governor pointed out that since his mid-January inauguration he has not been away from Columbus for a full day.

He said a recent physical check-up was satisfactory.

"The doctors said the same thing they've been telling me for 10 years—take off some weight," DiSalle told newsmen.

At 200 pounds, the 5-foot-5½ inch administrator weighs eight pounds less than he did in January.

DiSalle said doctors set his ideal weight at 160 pounds. The lowest he has been in recent years was 185, he admitted.

Forest Fires Endanger City In California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Smoke hung over Northern California mountains today as firemen fought new flames in forests near Ukiah and Willits, about 100 miles north of San Francisco.

Every able-bodied man in Ukiah turned out Monday to save the city of 15,000. Women and children used garden hoses and buckets to wet roofs as wind-swept embers cascaded down from flaming forests just beyond city limits.

A ranger said fires near Ukiah had been set by children and hunters.

In southern California, 500 men ringed the Decker Canyon blaze near Lake Elsinore after it claimed 2 lives, injured 27 and burned 1,600 acres.

For five weeks blazes in tinder-dry California forests and brushland have kept firemen on the run. The state got less rain and snow than usual last winter and heavy rains are not due for months.

Rangers said two fires on Cow Mountain, east of Ukiah, were set by youngsters and hunters.

Near Yuba City, 100 miles north-east of San Francisco, sheriff's deputies reported 17 fires in an hour within a four-mile radius. All were extinguished quickly.

"They waited until we rolled everything we had on the fire at Spanish Mountain and then they started the other," Ranger Frank Weatherford said.

"They wanted to burn the brush so the animals wouldn't have a place to hide. And they knew there wasn't a damn thing we could do."

Exchange Pupils Like Scenery Here

Dutch Miss, Pakistanian Are Visitors

Columbiana County's common-place hills have an air of the exotic for two far-off visitors, Miss Leisbeth Verwel of Amsterdam, Holland, and Mozammel Huq of East Pakistan.

Leisbeth, 16, who will enroll for her senior year at East Palestine High School as a foreign exchange student, finds the county's rolling hills and sweeping valleys a sharp comparison with the flat coastal areas of Holland.

Huq, 23, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ed Copeland of near Millport for a few weeks to study farm operations, also marvels at the varied nature of local geography, so different from the level lowlands of his near-tropical homeland between India and Burma.

Leisbeth is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Oakley of East St., East Palestine, arrived Saturday for a year's stay under the teen-age exchange program of the Michigan - Ann Arbor Council of Churches.

Carol Oakley, daughter of the East Palestine couple, has been visiting for two months in Holland and is due back Aug. 27 to start her final year in the high school with her new Dutch friend.

Liesbeth, sponsored by the Rotary Club, met Carol in Holland briefly on the way to the United States. She came over on a Greek ship with some 160 other students, landing at Montreal.

The petite brunette yesterday attended a Rotary club meeting.

Leisbeth also plays the flute and hopes to join a school music group. She attended a teen-age dance Saturday.

Lisbon Calls Public Session On Rate Hike

LISBON — Village Council will hold a public meeting Monday, Aug. 24, at 8 p.m. in council chambers and to confer with representatives of the Ohio Edison Co. and discuss the rate increase the company asked for.

The utility sent a letter to Council April 13 requesting a meeting to go over the new rate schedule which has been estimated to amount to about seven per cent raise with the expiration date of present contract set for Oct. 1.

The lighting committee met with Deane Beck, local Edison manager, but decided to have a public meeting so that local people could voice their opinions.

Council decided last night to get a bulldozer and grade around the swimming pool and clear off the land and plant grass on it so that it could be mowed next year, making it an ideal recreation center.

Council authorized the Ohio Edison to change the fee on stop lights from a meter to a flat charge each month.

Farmers National Bank had requested part of the village funds and Council decided to place 80 per cent in that bank and 20 per cent in the Firestone Bank. Hereafter, Firestone had all the depository funds, Clerk Ray Hempstead said.

Council passed resolution appropriating land in the Smith and Grandview additions so that the Board of Public Affairs can construct a new sewer on the land. One property owner had refused the village permission to go over his land. The land is between High

McElroy on Third Visit to Canton Hard-Hitting Probe of Stark Vice Promised

CANTON, Ohio (AAP) — Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy promised a "thorough and hard-hitting" investigation of Stark County vice conditions after a two-hour session with grand jurors. He said the panel felt there was collaboration between gambling and law enforcement officials in the county.

McElroy, making his third appearance in Canton since Gov. Michael V. DiSalle requested he investigate the need for a special grand jury, met informally Monday with the jurors.

"They all seemed to think, while the present grand jury has no direct evidence to corroborate their suspicions, that the recent bombings and the confiscating of 60 tons of gambling equipment suggested gambling was syndicated and organized and obviously collaborating with law enforcement officials," McElroy said.

McElroy said the jurors gave him these impressions:

"That none of this gambling could operate if there was proper and strong police enforcement throughout the county."

"That the jury was convinced that there had been extensive gambling operations in the county for many years—but that, generally, the citizenry condoned it."

"That there was much concern regarding recent bombings as they might affect wives and children."

"That possibly state legislation was needed."

McElroy said the grand jury, which ends its four-month term at the close of the month, asked for the opportunity to meet with him. The attorney general added:

"I assured the grand jury that the results of our investigation would be presented to a special grand jury in conformity with the governor's statutory request to me; that the investigation would be as thorough and hard-hitting as my staff could make it."

When traced by police through the auto's license plate, Couche told police he swam ashore after the auto ran into the lake and started sinking. The sheriff's office is considering citing him into court.

Steelworkers' Chief Leaves Strike Talks

Industry Rebukes McDonald's Action, Answers New Blast

NEW YORK (AP)—The head of the striking steelworkers has stepped out of the contract talks here—temporarily at least — and left a "second string" of negotiators to represent the union.

The industry rebuked him for staying away, and answered his blast at the caliber of the industry negotiating team.

David J. McDonald, president of

McDonald to Address District Steelworkers

David J. McDonald, national president of the United Steelworkers of America, will be in Youngstown Wednesday to report to members of District 26 of the union on the issues in the current steel strike.

District Director James P. Griffin announced today that McDonald would address local union officers, shop stewards, members of the grievance committee and other active members at 1:30 p.m. in Stambaugh Auditorium.

District 26 includes Columbiana, Ashabula, Mahoning and Trumbull counties.

The United Steelworkers Union of America, said in Pittsburgh Monday:

"I got sick of that show in New York. I will talk to people in authority. I refuse to talk with liasons. I have no immediate plans for returning to New York."

R. Conrad Cooper, top industry negotiator and executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp., came back with his reply for the industry:

"Mr. McDonald knows full well that the four-man negotiating team designated by 12 steel companies to handle the collective bargaining on their behalf has full authority to deal with the United Steelworkers Union."

"Mr. McDonald's efforts to downgrade the companies' negotiating team to the status of messenger boys is unfortunate because sooner or later he must confront his responsibility to bargain with this team."

Despite the bitter new clash between industry and union in the four-week-old strike, federal mediators continued efforts to settle the dispute.

The mediators scheduled another joint negotiating session today.

Robert Moore, chief deputy to Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the federal mediation and conciliation service, reported a certain amount of progress Monday on contract details and language. He said, however, that there was "no progress on the question of the basic economic differences of the parties."

The board said it had no alternative in rejecting the petition of Arthur McDevitt of Calcutta because elimination of names of three signers, who also signed the petition of Fred Hopper, an opponent for the office, left McDevitt with only 25 signatures, three short of the 25 required.

The board granted ballot places to 202 other nonpartisan candidates who filed before the deadline last Wednesday and also approved balloted places for two candidates certified by party central committees for a Columbiana village councilman.

The Republican committee certified John C. T. Elder while the Democratic committee submitted Lee Harrold.

Elder will replace Herbert Sponseller and Harrold will take the place of O. F. Harrold. Sponseller and O. F. Harrold were nominated without primaries in May and then withdrew from the races.

The board rejected the bids of the Dodge Publishing Co. of Salem and the Wilson Printing House of East Liverpool for ballots because they were considered "excessive," Clerk Frank R. O'Hanlon said.

The Salem firm submitted a bid of $6,342.50 for municipal, village, township and school district offices and 16 state, municipal, school district, village and township questions and issues already certified.

In addition to the general contract, Dodge also asked an additional $10 to $12 per 1,000 for other questions and issues to be received. The price was dependent on the quantity and size of the ballot.

Wilson asked $8,314 for the general contract and an additional $19 per 1,000 for extra questions and issues.

Rayburn Backs Middle-of-Road Measure

House Headed Into Labor Bill Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House headed today into its bitterest fight in a decade over the shape of new labor-management controls legislation.

Starting a week of wide open floor battling, the House called up three rival bills, all avowedly aimed at checking racketeering and abuse of power in the labor-management field. All are modifications—to varying degrees—of a bill passed by the Senate last April.

The outcome was conceded a toss-up by rival camps. The first votes may come late Wednesday or Thursday.

Arrayed in favor of the most restrictive of the three bills were President Eisenhower and a Republican House minority.

Supporting what its sponsors called a moderate middle-of-the-road approach were a majority of House Democrats headed by Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.).

A smaller group of Democrats was supporting a third measure, backed by AFL-CIO chieftains and making fewer changes in present law.

In advance of showdown voting later this week, the balance of power appeared to reside in a small but potent coalition of Southern and Midwestern conservatives of both parties.

The nation got a preview of the forthcoming House debate Monday night as Rayburn spoke over MBS radio network and supporters of all three measures discussed them on an NBC television program. Each contended his bill was best for the nation.

The programs followed up Eisenhower's radio-TV appeal last Thursday for passage of a bill strong enough to end labor-man-

Inter-American Meeting Set to Open

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, flying here today for the Inter-American Conference of Foreign Ministers, was reported considering making a strong declaration of U.S. opposition to dictatorships.

Herter was due late this afternoon in the Chilean capital after a night's stopover in Puerto Rico. Leaving Washington, he said the conference should take a candid look at troubles plaguing the Caribbean area and adopt measures to deal with them.

Puerto Rico's Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, who talked with Herter in Washington Sunday, said the secretary likely would make clear that the United States does not coddle dictators.

Numerous Latin Americans have accused the United States of showing open favoritism to such dictators as former President Fulgencio Batista of Cuba, Marcos Perez Jimenez of Venezuela, now an exile in Florida, the Dominican Republic's Rafael Trujillo and Nicaragua's Luis Somoza.

Presumably any U.S. declaration will be worded in general terms with no names called. Both Trujillo and Somoza are still in office, and any direct attack on them would bring accusations of U.S. interference in domestic affairs of other nations, as well as imperil relations between Washington and the Dominican and Nicaraguan governments.

One potential source of fireworks at the conference was removed Monday night. Cuba's ambassador announced that Prime Minister Fidel Castro would not attend. Apparently Castro is too busy at home, where his government claims it has just smashed a military plot by counter-revolutionaries.

The meeting was called after a series of invasions by political exiles trying to overthrow the Trujillo and Somoza regimes and the Panamanian government.

Herter, first U.S. secretary of state ever to visit Chile, was expected to swing soon after his arrival into private talks with various foreign ministers on the problems before the conference.

The U.S. secretary is scheduled to reply on behalf of all the ministers Wednesday when Chile's President Jorge Alessandri opens the conferences. But U.S. sources said his major speech will come after the meeting gets down to real business.

County Toll of 22 Equals All Of Last Year

George Saunier, 20, Killed, 2 Hurt When Car Strkes Truck

The death of a 20-year-old Alliance motorist, killed last night at 11:20 when his auto slid under lumber overhanging the back of a truck, hiked the county traffic death toll to 22, equal to the number killed in Columbiana during all of 1958.

Two passengers in the auto were injured in the collision which killed George L. Saunier III of 2312 S. Cherry Ave., Alliance. The victim died instantly of multiple skull fractures when the projecting lumber ripped off the top of the sedan.

Scene of the fatality was on Route 62 at the eastern edge of Alliance, which is in Columbiana County.

In fair condition today at Alliance City Hospital are Gary Green, 16, of 2523 S. Arch Ave., and Robert James, 18, of 2749 S. Union Ave., both of Alliance.

Green suffered a fractured left arm and abrasions of the face and chest. James received multiple cuts of the chest and face.

Highway patrolmen investigating the accident say the victim was apparently traveling at a "high rate of speed" when his auto struck the lumber.

The lumber truck, driven by James Traister, 21, of 807 S. Arch Ave., Alliance, was traveling east on Rt. 62, and started turning into a service station lot on the north side of the road, patrolmen said.

Legislature Ends Session In Louisiana

BATAON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Frustrated Gov. Earl K. Long today planned to "carry my fight to the people" after a rebellious Legislature killed his session before it was an hour old.

Long, trying to rally forces after a stunning and swift defeat, had his sights set on a downtown New Orleans rally tonight — home grounds of his political foe, Mayor DeLesseps Morrison, one of his opponents in the December Democratic gubernatorial primary.

The governor had little or nothing to say to newsmen after he shuffled from the Legislature ash-cenched, behind him the echoes of lawmakers applauding their adjournment victory.

But his cronies brushed aside the sudden end as an act of defiance. They contended that Long, now cast in an underdog role, would make political hay out of the incident.

"This will mean 100,000 votes for the governor," said Lt. Gov. Lethers Frazier.

Frazier, who presides over the Senate, was unsuccessful in holding back an adjournment stampede, after news got to the Senate of the House's vote to quit.

Rep. Ben Holt of Rapides Parish, a disenchanted Long supporter, led the move to end the 2-day session, which would have cost an estimated $148,000.

Holt said the session "was called for vindictive and personal reasons."

Many members listening were leery of possible new wild outbursts from Long such as those which came at the much-publicized fiscal legislature in May.

Long later collapsed and was spirited by his wife to a Galveston, Tex., mental clinic.

Rural Roads Backaround For 95 Fatalities

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's rural roads rarely look more beautiful than they do in June, but this beauty last June was a backround for 95 traffic deaths.

According to the Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's Traffic Safety Committee, which heard a six-month report Monday, these 95 rural highway deaths marked a 121 per cent rise over June of last year.

On a statewide basis, fatalities during June total 152, or 20 per cent more than the 127 figure in June, 1958.

However, the six-month report for this year was, on the whole, somewhat favorable.

The committee, in session here, previously heard the best part of the statistics—an eight per cent drop from the six-month total of 1958. Traffic deaths through the period totaled 753, against 815 last year.

The Department of Safety broke the report into two sections—rural and urban.

The figures point to rural Ohio's traffic fatalities as reason for the June jump.

Urban totals for June ran 27 per cent under last June, down from 45 to 33, and brought the cumulative total in urban areas to 221. That was a reduction of 22 per cent. There were 281 urban deaths for the first half of 1958. But all-rural traffic deaths climbed 16 per cent in April and 10 per cent in May of this year, then jumped 45 per cent in June. It made the all-rural cumulative total practically even with last year—533 compared to 532 last year.

The rising fatality trend on rural road began in March of this year and skyrocketed in June. The rural total from January to June ran to 400 deaths—more than half the state total and 18 per cent greater than the 340 registered deaths in rural areas during the same period in 1958.

Little Rock Mother Asks Faubus' Help

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Segregationists rounded up support today for a rally on the state capitol lawn to ask Gov. Orval E. Faubus to "do something" about impending integration of two Little Rock white high schools. The schools are to open Wednesday.

Margaret Jackson, president of the League of Central High Mothers, said she had had "dozens of calls" from people wanting to know what could be done to stop integration.

"So in response to this," she said, "we are inviting every patriotic citizen to meet us on the state capitol grounds to pay tribute to our great governor and tell him that we need and want his continued leadership in our fight against federal dictatorship."

Faubus has remained silent on his plans to take a hand against the impending desegregation. But he has said he does have plans. The governor stopped integration in the high schools last fall by closing them. But the law he used has been struck down by federal court.

The Little Rock school board issued a statement saying it was confident "the people of Little Rock will accept this challenge to resume the peaceful operation of its high schools. There is no reason to anticipate anything else." The school board has assigned three Negroes to Central and three to Hall high. It used a court-approved pupil placement law to keep out some 55 other Negroes who applied to attend the white schools.

U.S. Navy Bomber Survives Struggle To Remain Aloft

HONOLULU (AP)—A Navy Neptune patrol bomber limped 1,100 miles on one engine Monday and landed safely at Hilo after a seven-hour struggle to stay aloft.

The big two-engine plane, out of Whidbey Island, Wash., and on a flight from Alameda, Calif., to Barbers Point Naval Air Station here with 10 men aboard, reported it had lost an engine as it passed the halfway point of no return on the 2,400 mile flight.

The pilot, Lt. (J.G.) Braden R. Briggs, found one engine too weak to keep his craft steady at 1,000 feet, so he used his auxiliary jets to boost himself up. But his plane kept losing altitude and his jet fuel ran out. By the time he was still 400 miles out he was cruising at 250 feet, riding the cushion of air above the water.

A naval spokesman said the last 40 miles was at the 100 foot level. He landed at Hilo on the big island of Hawaii as three rescue planes escorted him in.

Four 'Platters' Are Arrested In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Four members of The Platters, a nationally known rock 'n' roll singing group, have been freed on bond under charges of aiding and abetting prostitution.

A professional bondsman put up $1,000 bond each Monday for David Lynch Jr., 30, and Tony Williams, 31, of Hollywood, Calif., Herbert A. Reed, 31, Los Angeles, and Irvin Robi, 26, of El Centro, Calif.

Vice squad detectives arrested the four Negro singers in a raid early Monday at a downtown hotel.

Four 19-year-old girls, three white and one Negro, were also arrested and charged with engaging in prostitution. They were held under $1,000 bond each.

The singers said they had just completed a three-day engagement at the Copa Club in nearby Newport, Ky.

County Seeks More Surplus Food Variety

COLUMBIANA County commissioners have sent letters to Congressman Wayne L. Hays, Senators Stephen N. Young and Frank J. Lausche, and also to Gov. Michael DiSalle and Mrs. Mary N. Gorman, director of state public welfare, appealing for assistance in an effort to secure a greater variety of surplus foods for deserving needy people.

The commissioners say they are experiencing an expensive cost for such a small variety of items they now receive. This month they have dried eggs, milk, flour and rice. They claim there are more items in storage and that these should be given to the needy and the distressed under the surplus food program.

Robert Bycroft, Columbia County welfare director, will attend a district meeting Wednesday afternoon in Summit county on the possible revision and regulations of surplus food distribution. The meeting was called by Robert F. McGonable of Columbus, state supervisor of surplus foods.

A SALESMAN ON THE PHONE IS ALWAYS ON TOP OF HIS MARKET

The salesman who's really sharp will get the most out of the rising market this year. He knows how to use long distance effectively. A long distance call to potential customers does several things for a salesman. First, it screens clients to find out which ones are worth following up, cutting out a lot of fruitless travelling. Second, appointments with solid prospects can be made if the sale can't be completed by phone.

Long distance reduces unit sales costs

Salesmen who use long distance sell more at a much lower unit sales cost! Personal visits... which can result in no sale... cost $19.00 on the average and can cost $35.00 or more. The average business long distance call costs about $1.51.

Take a look at these typical costs involved in contacting customers. Low-cost long distance can help reduce many of them.

Does Congress Represent Majority?

President Eisenhower is right when he says most Americans are tired of thuggery in the guise of labor unionism.

But he is on shaky ground when he assumes a majority of congressmen will do something about it.

It cannot be taken for granted in this instance that Congress represents a majority of the American people.

Organized labor is a powerful pressure bloc. Its influence on the House of Representatives and the Senate is out of all proportion to its size.

Its money resources and its oft-demonstrated ability to get results at the polls loom large in the thought of all politicians. At this very moment, no less than 200 officials of the Teamsters Union alone are in Washington buttonholing representatives and senators—particularly representatives.

The most active lobbyist against the proposal to pass a labor reform bill—any labor reform bill—is in the employ of the Teamsters. James R. Hoffa definitely does not want any union reform law.

George Meany, president of AFL-CIO, has gone on the record repeatedly to remind members of Congress that any deviation from the AFL-CIO line will be duly recorded and acted on in good time. Meany is close to saying that any legislator who concedes thugs in unionism should be manhandled may be listed as a deviationist, because any move to drive out thugs might be taken advantage of by the "enemies" of unionism.

Yet in all the frenzied discussion of this touchy subject nothing ever is said about the fact the U.S. government grants thugs the same rights and privileges under laws concerning unionism as it grants the most up-right and the most honorable unionists. That is the original mistake.

Unions would stand for no selectivity in granting authorization to do business under the National Labor Relations Act, or any other law for the protection of unionism. They even resisted the anti-Communist oath in the Taft-Hartley Act. They said then what they are saying now—that unions did not dare to break ranks to ferret out a traitor lest their "enemies" take advantage of a confession of weakness.

By "enemies," they mean employers. That is the jargon of the class warfare their spokesmen wage. But in the present instance, criticism of thuggery in unionism is coming not only from employers victimized by it but from all kind of Americans who agree with President Eisenhower that "gangsters" racketeers and other corrupt elements that have invaded the labor-management field are intolerable.

These are not "enemies" of labor. They are "friends" of representative democracy—Americans who believe the majority cannot be denied the right to protect itself by the will of a minority.

This proposition has been challenged by union labor in Washington. Its spokesmen do not want a reform law with teeth in it. They do not want a reform law that might reform something. At worst, they would settle for a toothless law that would hurt no one. At best, they hope for no law at all and are counting heavily on an intimidated Congress to give them just that—no law at all. Representative democracy be hanged.

Guests In The House

In the five weeks before Premier Khrushchev's arrival, Americans must decide for themselves how they will regard his visit.

The question is academic for the most part. Only a tiny fraction will come into contact with the premier of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. But among its members will be enough potential violence to create serious trouble. Only one thing can dampen this prospect of trouble—public opinion.

This is not a dictatorship that can turn heckling off and on the way the Kremlin turned it off and on when Vice President Nixon visited Russia. Americans are guided by their conscience, not by the dictates of a one-party government.

The question regarding Khrushchev is whether a handful of potential troublemakers can be held in line by the collective force of the American people, assisted in this instance by a vast security force.

It is not a matter of agreeing and disagreeing with the Russian premier or his government. It is a matter of upholding the federal government in an official action taken in the name of the American people.

There is to be a "guest in the house"—Nikita Khrushchev. The question is whether refugees from abroad will accept the same obligation of hospitality that will be accepted by most U.S. citizens. They, too, are guests.

Trouble may be forthcoming, also, from a handful of opportunistic politicians eager to do a little rabble-rousing and from members of minority groups that put their narrow interests ahead of the broad national interest.

President Eisenhower has undertaken a ticklish gambit in diplomacy. He has been working on it since early this summer. It is not, as it first appeared to be, a sudden decision that grew out of the Nixon visit to Russia, or the frustration of the Geneva Conference. There is unlikely to be a more vital diplomatic move made this year than the Eisenhower-Khrushchev exchange.

The possibility that the whole thing could be scuttled by a betrayal of hospitality, particularly by someone living in the United States as August is frightening. Americans who disapprove of what Nikita Khrushchev says and does should "defend to the death" his right to security when he becomes a guest of their country.

Commendable Action

Police and firemen usually come in for more than their share of criticism, most of it unjustified.

The instance Sunday where police rushed an unconscious man to City Hospital after he choked when a chicken bone lodged in his throat, should bring only praise for the prompt, efficient work of Patrolman Gilbert Bartha. The victim is recovering.

Firemen awhile back were credited with saving the life of a visitor who suffered a heart attack in a Salem home. A telephone call to the fire station brought firemen to the scene within minutes and oxygen was applied successfully. In fact, the firemen beat the doctor to the door.

Such examples of service to mankind, duty or not, is commendable.

Once Over

Here's hoping switch to Guided Oratory, Global Split Infinitive and Intercontinental Tape Recordings in Russo-American routines will help bring world peace, but we hear Khrushchev has already asked postponement so he can throw out the first ball at the world series, referee the Johansson-Paterson bout and reopen the regular theatrical season.

Nikita misses no bets. In a way we are going from the Summit to "Ham it." September will be National Protect-Your-Ear-Drums Month, with the Soviet chief given a super-duper American production, with his arrogance in technicolor. Hollywood cowboy actors may have to demand equal time.

Ike will go to Russia but Khrush has the advantage in color, comedy routines and non-predictability. Ike is a symbol of integrity and truth but he is no top entertainer or spellbinder de luxe. Ike is easier on the ears, nerves and sensibilities but we live in a crazy world which is a sucker for laugh lines, jerky gestures and Kelly-Zouave parade routines. This can be a handicap.

Americans would feel better if Ike took along Joe E. Lewis, Tennessee Ernie and Sgt. Bilko. With this setup we might be able to put showmanship in orbit.

IN TREATING KHRUSH like a returned channel swimmer we are seeking to "ease tensions" by glad handing the world's foremost tension producer. He is the only leader who can threaten to bury you while proposing a toast to your good health.

Probability is that Kremlin will use Khrushchev's visit to sell the idea that Lenin, Stalin, Marx and Khrush have been accepted by us as buddies of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and President Eisenhower.

Nikita might even send a postcard of himself at Concord Bridge reading "Having lovely time; wish you were here."

Up to now Uncle Sam thought it poor judgment to respond to a screaming rock-tossing neighbor by inviting him into the living room to study the battered family's way of life. But he now shoots the works as an exponent of patience, good will, forgiveness and ever-ready Red Cross kit.

The question is whether Khrush will regard it as a demonstration of hospitality or a license to slug U.S. under wider news coverage. Our bet is that he will reach a peak as a knockabout performer, wowing the public, delighting "Variety" vaudeville critics and tying up traffic.

He has no equal in blending the lead pipe and monkey wrench with the Chautauqua salute and Talent Scout audition.

NEW ANTI-AIRCRAFT guided missile can be carried by a GI. This brings close a day when he can be decorated for bringing down 10 planes singlehanded.

Leaders have threatened to bury America before but this is the first time Uncle Sam will shake hands with the fellow who poses as the undertaker.

Let's hope that when President Eisenhower reaches Russia the Russians will be reminded that he is the man who once helped save their nation, with the capitalistic system paying the bills.

August will see a Safety Navigation Week in some states. But the speedboat and outboard motor fanatic will be going too fast and making too much noise to hear about it.

There are some indications Bill Rosensohn, who thought he had the Johansson fight sealed up, suffered a knockdown with the opponent refusing to go to a neutral corner.

Labor's Iron-Fisted Monopoly

By Dr. GEORGE S. BENSON
President, National Education Program

Nearly all American citizens now agree that the present laws for the control of labor union bosses and racketeers have proved in recent years to be quite inadequate. But not enough citizens have said so to their representatives in Congress.

Therefore, we have the spectacle of a powerful labor boss and his gang of ex-convict goons openly defying the U.S. government and gravely jeopardizing the welfare of the people of the United States.

We have the spectacle of union violence, of murder and property destruction under the eyes of local and state police forces held captive by fear or corrupt political power. We have the spectacle of labor bosses controlling local, state, and national politics.

THIS WHOLE SITUATION is one that cannot be permitted to continue—as such courageous leaders as Senator John L. McClellan have declared—if we want to keep our individual freedom and the great material benefits available through the workings of the American way of life.

It will continue, and get even worse, if millions of citizens do not immediately demand of Congress that strong legislative safeguards be created.

One chief factor in bringing about the present situation has been the swiftly growing monopoly

Pioneers Go Bust

By MCGREGOR SMITH, JR.

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. Canadian officials are acting to prevent the scenic Alaskan highway from taking on the appearance of one vast junk heap.

To many Alaska-or-Bust adventurers who start out in old jalopies with little ready cash are going bust in Canadian Territory. While U.S. authorities responsible for the highway expedite rescues of their bankrupt countrymen, Canadians sometimes must "grub stake" the would-be pioneers.

Often derelict autos that break down along the rugged route are abandoned on the spot. To make sure that Alaska-bound U.S. drivers reach their destination 1,527 miles north of here, immigration officials now require a kind of "pioneer insurance."

BEFORE Americans are allowed set out for Fairbanks over the cross-Canada highway they must show that they have enough cash to meet emergencies. The Canadian minimum required is $250 for a car and driver, $100 for each additional passenger and a valid credit card if only the bare minimum of cash is met.

U.S. base commanders have just been instructed to urge transferees to Alaska to take at least $350 for driver and car.

Matter of Fact

The old city of Belgrade, Yugoslavia, built around the white castle that gave the city its name (from the Serbian word "beograd," meaning white castle), stood on a high bluff overlooking the Danube and Sava rivers. From this point an army can control the approach to the Balkans from the north, as well as the traffic on the two rivers. Consequently, in history, the city has changed hands repeatedly.

So They Say

as Senate chopped the Administration's foreign aid request. It's sad, and hard to explain, why America, which loves its children and counts on them for the future, spends a smaller proportion of its income on public education than other poorer, "backward nations."

Behind 'Hate' Drives

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Reds Foment Internal Friction Among Countries

To what extent is Communist money back of the racist and hate literature being so widely spread throughout the world? Are the bombings of synagogues in the southern part of this country in some way related to an international conspiracy? If so, have not the people of the South been unjustly stigmatized and blamed for something with which they have had nothing to do? It is a Communist objective, of course, to foment discord and internal friction within all free countries.

The latest and most significant piece of information on the subject of hate literature has just come out in a formal report filed at the plenary assembly of the World Jewish Congress held in Stockholm, Sweden, only a week ago. It says in part:

"There is evidence that anti-Semitic organizations, institutions or individual adventurers in this field have established interlocking international relationships in order to facilitate the dissemination of racist material on an international scale."

"Thus Australia has been regularly supplied with material of the vilest kind exported from the United States and the United Kingdom, while, from Australia itself, anti-Semitic literature has turned up in Turkey in quantities sufficiently significant to alarm the Jewish community."

"From Sweden there has come a ceaseless stream of anti-Semitic material ostensibly produced and distributed by a single individual, which has turned up in Germany, South Africa and various Latin American states, all areas carefully chosen because, for historical reasons, this material might make an impact."

"This by no means exhausts the story of the international effort to revive anti-Semitism; we have cited only a number of conspicuous examples which we have brought to the notice of the governments concerned and to the United Nations."

"These governments have invariably received our representatives with the utmost sympathy but, with rare exceptions, have equally invariably expressed their legal inability to deal with a phenomenon which we do not doubt they find deeply distressing."

IN ANOTHER statement placed before the Stockholm meeting by its director of international affairs, Dr. M. L. Perlewig of New York City, reference is made to the attitude of the Soviet Union towards Jews from that country who were invited to attend the World Jewish Conference.

The Moscow government claimed that the acceptance of the invitations was entirely up to Soviet Jews, but, although the invitations were sent to Jewish religious communities, their reply was that,

"The Moslems" are of rising concern to respectable Negro civic leaders, to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the police departments in half a dozen cities, and to the FBI."

Where are all these anti-American organizations getting their money? This is a question that has not yet been answered.

Mournful Numbers

By DON FRIFIELD

HONG KONG Ever play the Chinese numbers game? An American employee of the U.S. consulate in Hong Kong is an expert at it. He has compiled an exhaustive list of Red Chinese propaganda appeals — each of them containing a number. The appeals cover everything from soup (wonton) to nuts (lychee) and the following samples are just a hint of it.

1. "One Specialty and Many Abilities." (The People's Liberation Army urges this on all officers and men.)

2. "Two Participations and One Reform." (Participation in manual labor by party activists, participation in administration by workers, and reform of certain existing regulations and systems.)

3. "Three Assurances and Three Fixes." (Assurance of hard work, good production and low pay; fixed volume of work, fixed quota and fixed level of cost.)

4. "Four Musts and Three Don'ts." (We must let politics assume command, we must be practical in attitude and we must be open minded in learning; don't be haughty, don't be jealous and don't be crestfallen.)

5. "Five Anti - Campaign." (Anti-bribery, tax evasion, fraud, theft of government property and theft of state economic secrets.)

"Five Evils." (See "four pests" and add snails.)

"Five Too Manys." (Too many meetings, too many party activists, too many organizations, too many reports and too many forms to fill out.)

6. "Six Ideas." (Idea of state, idea of labor, idea of collectivism, idea of class, idea of mass and idea of party organization.)

"Six Guarantees." (Medical care, wedding, childbirth, funeral, education and care for the aged — a slogan for communes.)

"Six Not Afraids." (Not afraid of heaven, not afraid of earth, not afraid of heat, not afraid of hardship, not afraid of exhaustion and not afraid of difficulty — slogan for Shanghai steel workers.)

7. "Seven Helps." (Help to solve the problems of raw material, of equipment, of capital, of production, of business relationships and of advertisement and publicity — slogan for financial and trade workers.)

8. "Eight-Word Constitution" for communes. (Water, fertilizer, soil, seed, compactness, tools, management, and protection.)

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

KAMPALA, UGANDA — From Zanzibar to Kisumu, from Capetown to Kartoum, I've searched for traces of Moscow gold. I've found it. This Russian money is paying, in one fashion or another, for a network of thousands of angry young Africans, Indians and Arabs now working incessantly to make Africa over into a vast Marxist continent.

Should this succeed, it would give the Soviets half the world. British intelligence sources estimate that more than 3,000 young Africans are being trained in anti-American and anti-West propaganda and subversion in Prague alone. Hundreds of others now travel the new underground railroad from deep inside Africa, into Uganda, then past the wild Sudanese border, on to Cairo and so to Prague, Moscow and Peking. Then they return to their home countries loaded by the Russian bear.

THIS SET of twin capitals — Kampala and Entebbe on the edge of crocodile-filled Lake Victoria — is typical of a score of other cities on the jungle's edge. First, take it for granted that Uganda is vital to the defense of all the Main streets back home.

From Uganda's capital cities of Kampala and Entebbe our allies, the British, can affect the Nile River with a lot of secret hocus-pocus a few miles from here at Jinja, where the Nile really begins. There's a big dam there and you can do tricks with it.

That dam, on a site selected more than 50 years ago by a young newspaperman named Winston Churchill, supplies electric power to much of East Africa. We, the people of the United States, will have forces and allies depending on that power if there is any conflict with the East.

Thus Uganda is vital for two reasons: From this inland African protectorate the British can cripple Russia's allies in North Africa. But if Moscow can put a friendly government in Entebbe-Kampala when Uganda goes independent, the Communists can control the power supplies of our friends in East Africa (in Kenya for example).

With all this in mind, please note that the biggest political party — or what passes for one in this part of the world — is the Uganda National Congress. It may well run the country some day. Its boss is Joseph Kiwanuka, the chairman.

Some weeks ago Joe K. slipped over the border into the Sudan and he was on his way to Cairo. There he picked up a bundle of some $21,000 for his party. But instead of returning home, he talked to Communist operatives in Cairo at a special African-Asian unit there.

SON KIWANUKA was on his way to Peking where he got the royal treatment. Then he got on a plane for Vienna and the Communist Youth Festival crowd, where the Chinese Reds have been throwing "parties" for the African delegations. Soon Kiwanuka will be back in Kampala.

But he's just one of the band. A few hours after I tracked down Kiwanuka, I sat with a young Indian named Shafik. He had just returned from studying in England and Moscow. Here he has a lucrative business. He drives a $10,000 Mercedes-Benz. And here we sat in the lovely Uganda Club.

The London-Moscow-Kampala Indian attacked the United States. Shafik said that Russia has no territorial aims. He boasted of the U.S.S.R.'s industrial progress. The young Indian defending the Communist Chinese brutalizing of Tibet.

He had revealed that he had just helped organize the Uganda Action Group. This group has 1,500 young Asian members, and they believe we ought to get rid of our atomic bombs. Shafik said bluntly he was a Marxist and all capitalism must go. That apparently included the United States.

SHAFIK AND KIWANUKA have one thing in common — they want the British to go right now. They want the white man to go right now. This would mean chaos. But they say at least it will be their own homemade chaos.

This they have in common with the leaders of all the violent bands. They've all been to Moscow. Yet they all say they're not Communists.

Further south, for example, there is Max Msopole. He is operating in the Misuku Mountains on the Tanganyika border. British intelligence says Msopole was trained ed in Moscow. He now directs strategy for tough bands of Africans who raid villages and burn government buildings.

They also burn the homes of Africans who want their freedom through peaceful political activity. These latter are our friends. Somehow our friends here always seem to be hurt or vilified when they oppose terrorism.

I could pinpoint a score such spots for you folks back home. It would add up to the grim fact that here, south of the Sudan, the Russians are building up for a new South of Korea. But here they may not even have to use troops.

Leetonia Ambulance Service To Begin Functioning Saturday

LEETONIA — The Scanlon Ambulance Service will be in full operation beginning Saturday, with headquarters in Leetonia.

The new service is owned by James Scanlon, Ronald Kokate and Atty. Paul Stevens of Youngstown. It is located on Front St. in the former Kyser Builders Supply building.

The 24-hour service is available to residents of North Lima, Columbiana, Lisbon, Leetonia, Washingtonville and Salem. Funeral directors in all of the communities, with the exception of one in Salem, will discontinue their ambulance service.

Five ambulances, which are equipped with two-way radios, are presently housed in Leetonia, with another station being planned for Columbiana. Additional stations will be established when services warrant, Scanlon said.

Mr. Scanlon was associated with an ambulance service in Youngstown for five years, and Mr. Kokate is a registered nurse. Two other registered nurses are on full time call.

In addition to oxygen-equipped vehicles, oxygen therapy in the home is also made available, together with other hospital equipment.

THE DEMOCRATIC WOMEN'S Club will hold a coverdsh picnic in Wick Park Wednesday evening at 6 p.m. Members are asked to bring their own table service and a coverdsh.

Mrs. John Leeson of Youngstown and Mrs. J. J. Shephard of Rochester, Pa., won high scores at the card party sponsored by the

SMITH TO ATTEND MEETING

School Superintendent-elect Paul E. Smith will go to Columbus on Wednesday to assist in the planning for the annual meeting of the Ohio School Boards Association, which will be held in Cleveland Nov. 11-13. Mr. Smith, who becomes Salem superintendent of schools Aug. 31, is a member of the planning committee.

East Ohio Gas Employees Reject Contract Renewal

CLEVELAND (APA)—East Ohio Gas Co. employees Monday night rejected by a 3-1 vote a new contract offer by the company.

Though their contract expired July 31, employees have been working on a day-to-day basis. A strike is not anticipated, according to a spokesman for the natural gas workers, an independent union. The rejected proposal would have provided pay increases for the 2,500 workers ranging from $2.25 to $26 a month, or averaging 10.7 cents an hour.

Votes were cast at meetings here and in Akron, Canton, Wooster, Youngstown, Warren and Ash-tabula.

Ratification of the new contract had been recommended by the union's 27-member executive committee. Reliable sources felt the employees turned down the proposal because it did not include paid hospitalization and discounts on gas used in their homes. Employees also were reported to have wanted a different distribution of the wage scale.

John D. Nagle, state president of the union, estimated the total "package" of wage increases and improved benefits offered by East Ohio Gas as reflecting an increase of 16 cents an hour.

LUXURY FURS AT BUDGET PRICES—Luxurious fur coats, ranging in price from a mere $245 to $750, were shown in New York recently as part of a collection done by outstanding fashion designers. The collection includes full-length coats as well as jackets, capes, shrugs and stoles. Some of the full-length coats have sweeping fullness; others are cut trench or polo coat style. There are coats with removable cuffs which form shrugs and shell coats with removable trim to make them ideal for accessorizing.

Most of the furs are familiar but the manner in which they have been handled is not. Furs include pony, Persian lamb, dyed, sheared and natural Southern muskrat, hair seal, cape seal, squirrel, Italian lamb, pieced mink, Persian paw, mouton, sheared and natural raccoon, guanaco, spotted cat, rabbit, blue fox, mink, beaver badger, fox, stone marten and lynx.

This Young Designers' Collection has been done by Jeanne Campbell, Luis Estevez, Jeanne Carr, Pembroke Squires, Eloise Curtis and John Weitz.

The idea behind the collection is to give women fashionable furs at budget prices. It's also meant to give the woman who would like to own a fur a chance to buy something other than mink. Desirable as mink is, the designers realize that not every woman can afford it.

We show here two coats from this collection. Sweeping coat (left) by John Weitz in natural guanaco has high-rising collar, deep cuffs and big silk bow which matches lining. Seven-eighths coat in natural ranch mink gills (right) is collared and cuffed in stone marten. This is a Jeanne Campbell design.

Chief McGuckin Trains His Men

Columbiana Force Small, Efficient

COLUMBIANA — Police Chief William McGuckin is a man with an ideal. He wants to make the village police force into a well-trained crime prevention team.

Bill, who recently attended the three-month FBI school in Washington for local law enforcement officers, is holding classes for his two regular patrolmen. He is passing on to Patrolman Frank Tevis of 407 Fairfield Ave. and Patrolman Richard Rhodes of RD 2, the information he picked up in Washington.

VILLAGE POLICE have a special situation facing them, the 41-year-old police chief says.

"We have all the problems of the big city police but we can't specialize because of the size of our force," he says.

Would he trade places with the big city police? "People are much harder to work with in a small town but I don't think I would change places," the chief says. It takes an all-around good man on a village force because of the variety, he points out.

Bill, who has been chief for the past four years, does have a special interest in police work. He is learning all he possibly can about criminal investigation.

"THIS IS THE real challenge," McGuckin declares. The equipment in the police crime lab seems to bear him out. "Photography helps

Eventually he hopes to add more patrolmen to the staff in Columbiana. Police in big cities don't need quite as many patrolmen in relation to their population as we do here, he says. He explains the number of people per square mile accounts for the difference in size of the forces.

The chief, who will complete 10 years service with the Columbiana police force in January, originally came from East Palestine. He married his wife, Ruth, in 1940. They have a daughter, Janice, 11, and a son, David, 8. They live at 234 Court St.

Former Yale Football Star Found Dead

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP) — Seven weeks ago, Joseph P. Crowley, a former Yale football star, was cleared in a sensational Tokyo trial of slaying his brother-in-law.

Today Crowley himself lay dead, felled on his 50th birthday, the cause not precisely determined. Authorities indicate he may have died from barbiturates.

Crowley's body was found by his son Joseph Monday on a bed in his home in Hamden, a New Haven suburb. He wore trousers and a sweater. Authorities said he probably died Sunday night while his family was at its summer home.

Coroner James Corrigan said an autopsy revealed conditions "consistent with barbituric acid or barbiturate poisoning."

But the coroner said the autopsy was inconclusive. A toxicological report expected today should clear up the cause of death, he said. Police suspected no foul play.

Crowley's death came just as he was rebuilding the life he'd led up until May 1958—that of a prosperous businessman whose standing in the New Haven area was enhanced by his exploits nearly 30 years ago as a Yale football hero.

Crowley's wife Betty is a daughter of the late T. A. D. Jones Sr., a famed football coach of years ago and a one-time All-America player.

It was T. A. D. Jones Jr., 45, Crowley's business partner and Betty Crowley's brother, that Crowley was accused of killing in Tokyo last year.

Eisenhower Monday set up a Summer White House office in a three-room suite of the Hotel Gettysburg, which overlooks the town's central square. He usually works at his farm outside town when he stays at Gettysburg.

His conferences with European leaders are a prelude to the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that starts Sept. 15.

Youngstown's Parking Plan Is Working

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A lot of delays, but no real jams, marked the beginning of Youngstown's parking experiment.

There is virtually no limit to where a motorist may park. Loading zones for busses and trucks can be used. So can both sides of several one-way streets, which used to be limited to parking on one side. The only limits are those specified by state law—for example, no parking in front of a theater, for safety reasons.

And curbside parking is free. The meters are ignored.

This situation resulted from an order issued by Mayor Frank X. Kryzan, who has been feuding with downtown merchants over parking rules.

Monday was the first test. But because it was Monday, some traffic experts felt it was not a complete test. Downtown stores operate from noon to 9 p.m. on Mondays, so the shopping hours do not coincide with customary office hours.

Traffic officials estimated that the new system created about 2,000 extra parking spaces.

By 9 a.m. nearly all the available spaces were filled, mostly by office workers who left their cars in one spot all day.

Commercial parking lots reported that customers were scarce in the morning, but kept them fairly busy in the afternoon.

Because the loading zones were filled with automobiles, a god many trucks had to double park to make deliveries.

Busses also had to load and unload in the street rather than at the curb.

The result was that traffic, particularly on the side streets, was much slower than normal.

and Spruce Sts., west of N. Beaver.

Council decided to send notices to land owners about weeds on their lots. They will have five days to cut the weeds and if not done, Council will cut the weeds and assess the property owners.

A letter was read from the Rev. Fr. William H. Hohman requesting an alley east of the St. George's church be fixed so that the 600 members who attend Mass each Sunday can use the parking lot off the alley so that they don't have to double park on Chestnut St. Council agreed to have the street committee investigate. The committee also will check on a deep ditch on Pritchard St., poor drainage back of Thomson Electric Co. off Vine St.; and a bad road in North Park Place.

Four members were present at last night's meeting, John Blockson, Richard Bloor, Robert Kelm, and Dean Stockman.

Bids on the resurfacing of village streets will be opened Wednesday, Aug. 19, but council set no special meeting to award the contract.

Mayor John Todd presided at last night's meeting.

agement racketeering practices which he called "a national disgrace."

Rayburn contended that "powerful interests are using the public demand for a cleanup of racketeering as a smoke screen behind which they can impose crippling legal restraints on the honest, legitimate interests of the working man."

The bill Eisenhower is backing, Rayburn said, "would throw the weight of the federal government so heavily on the side of management" that it would harm the rights of honest, law-abiding workers.

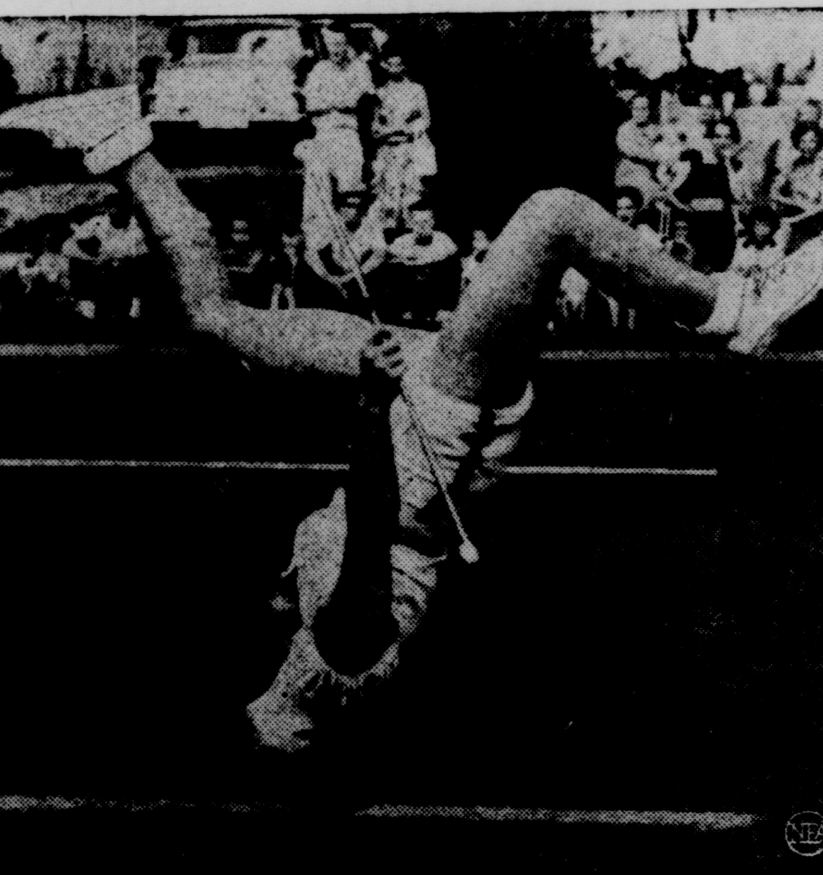

He appealed for passage of legislation to end "the worst abuses in labor-management relations without tramping on the just rights of anyone."

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (AP) — Steven Rockefeller and the Norwegian girl he marries Aug. 22 plan an extended honeymoon in the hills of Wyoming, friends here said today.

After their return to New York, Anne Marie Rasmussen Rockefeller will enroll at Columbia University to continue art studies she began at New York's Metropolitan Museum during the months Steven was courting her.

Steven has said he would go into "family business," training to play a role in the administration of one of the greatest fortunes in the world.

For the present the son of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and the one-time maid in the Rockefeller home kept their whereabouts a secret from the world.

Steven, Anne Marie, and her parents motored out of Rasmussen's home village of Sogne, near here for a week of privacy.

unday night and found it "very enjoyable." She said the girls wear more make up than they do in Holland, but the social atmosphere is more relaxed and informal.

THE FUTURE FOR HUQ — pronounced "Huk" — is clearer. An International Farm Youth Exchange student, he will return to East Pakistan to advise and teach his countrymen about modern and improved agriculture methods, serving as a government farm agent.

Huq arrived in the United States in May with nine other Pakistani youths, and has since been in Nebraska, visiting farm families and learning the ins and outs of large scale farming in the wheatlands.

He arrived at the Copelands Saturday and will get a closeup look at a busy Ohio farm where Copeland works 257 acres, growing corn, wheat, oats and other crops, raising dairy cattle, sheep, turkeys and chickens and also serving as the district U.S. weather observer.

Huq, who completed primary and secondary schooling and went to agriculture college three years in Pakistan, worked a 28-acre section of his father's scattered 200 acres. He raised rice wheat and jute — a tall fibrous plant from which rope, carpets, hats and other items are made.

THE YOUNG FARM STUDENT, serious but with a ready smile, points out Pakistan is actually two large land areas flanking India, from which it was separated on the basis of religion — Moslems in Pakistan and Hindus in India.

Versatile in English, Huq also speaks Bengalee (the language of East Pakistan), Urdu (the language of West Pakistan), Sanskrit — an Indian tongue — and Arabic.

His dark hair and eyes reflect the colorful and ancient traditions of India, and he speaks of the "rainy season" and such places as Rangpur and the Ganges river but admits he is fond of singing and dancing and football — "like the Americans play, not British Rugby."

THE DISTRICT HILLS here are no novelty for Huq's companion, Islam Koshal, 29, of West Pakistan, who arrived Monday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Rudebeck of near Leetonia.

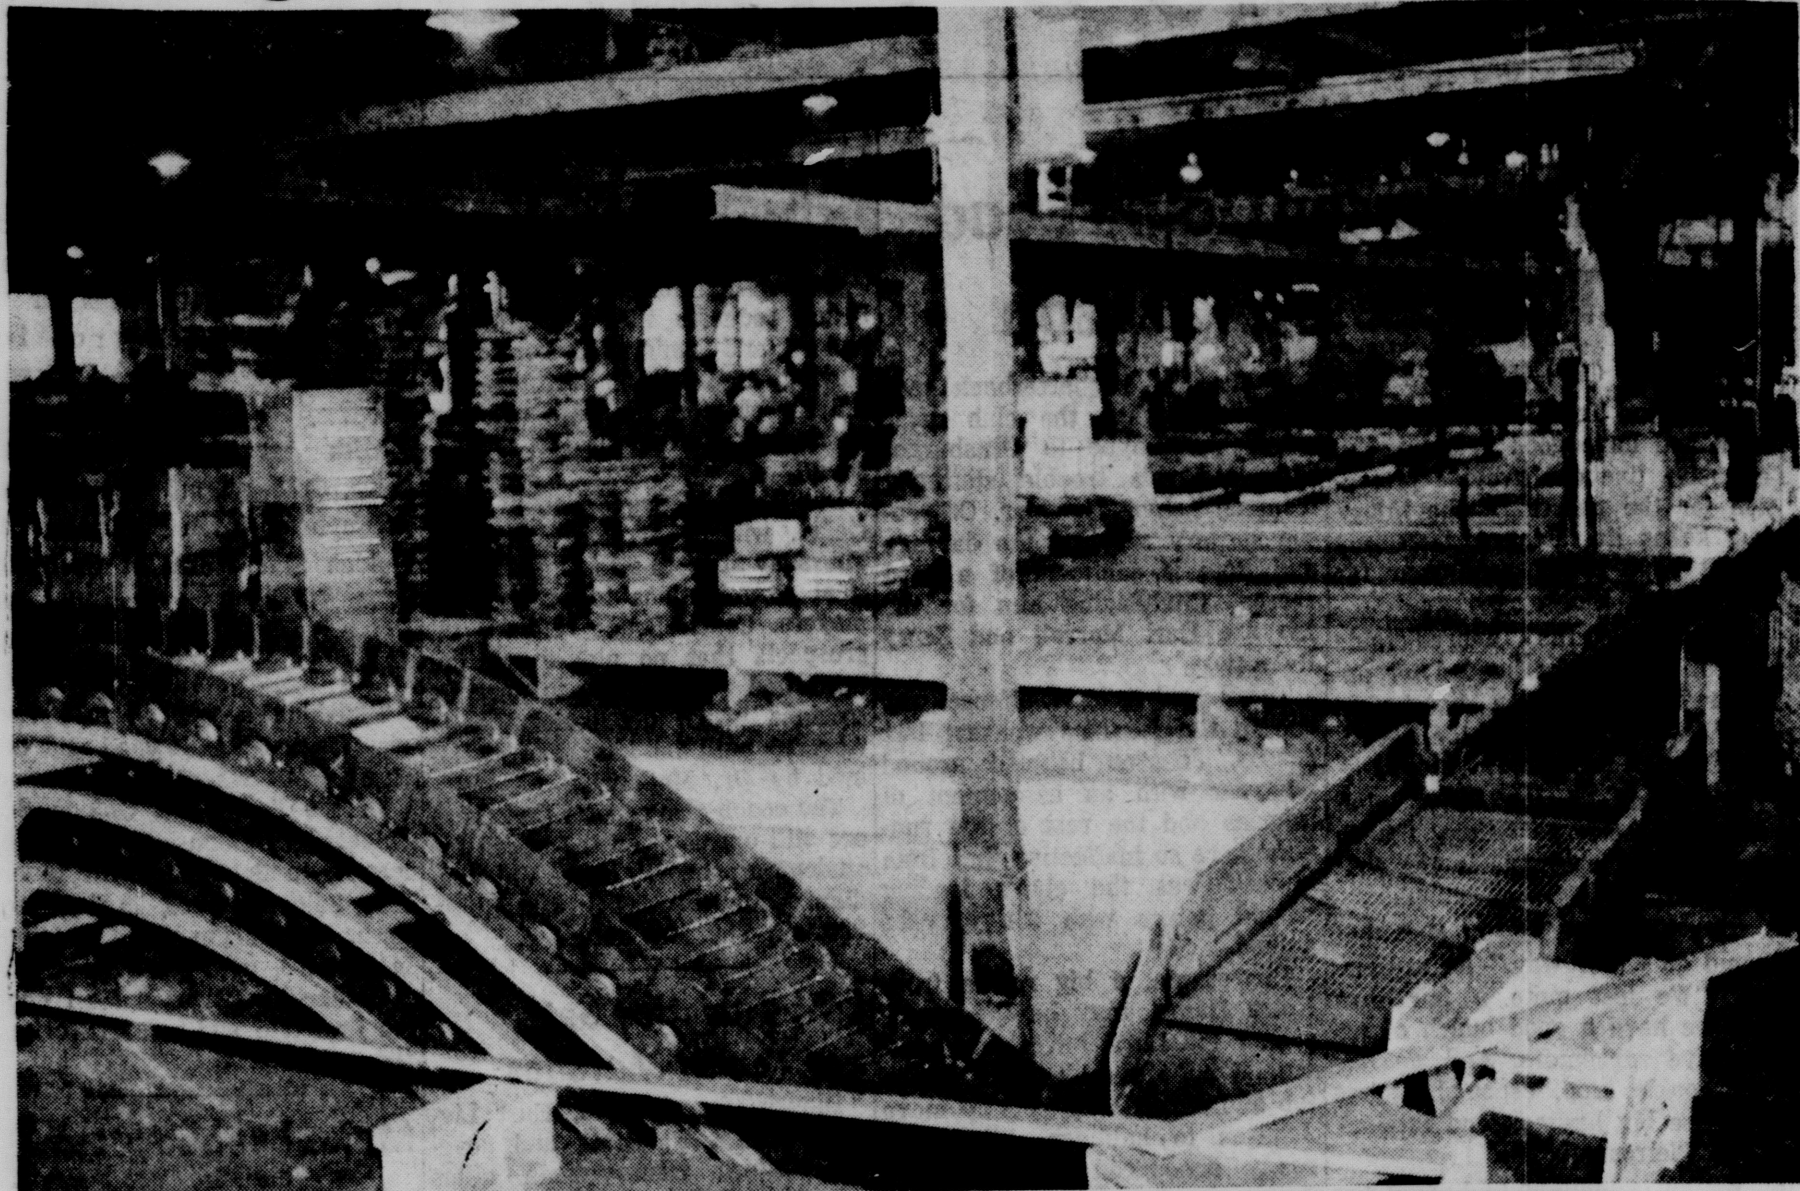

Koshal, another IFYE student who was in Nebraska, is from the mountainous and hilly region of West Pakistan — 1,000 miles across India from Huq's part of the nation.

The two will visit Mr. and Mrs. Don Myers of Lisbon later this month and then go to southern Ohio for more farm visits and will return to their homeland in October.

I've guaranteed my family a home, no matter what happens!

Deming's New Foundry Equipment In Operation

Pump Production Is Also Aided By New Machinery

New, modern foundry equipment installed at the Deming Company plant on South Broadway is now in full operation.

The extensive improvement includes new molding machines, pouring equipment, an elaborate conveyor system and automatic shake-out. This latest foundry investment, amounting to some $75,000, should result in better quality castings at a lower cost, explains Company President Walter Deming.

Considerably less manual lifting is required during the entire foundry process. Safety features also have been improved.

In addition, the local factory has made other investments in plant equipment in the form of all types of the latest machinery.

Many manufacturers, particularly pump manufacturers, do not have their own foundries, preferring to secure castings from other jobbing foundries near their immediate location, but there are certain advantages apparent in a manufacturer having its own foundry, Mr. Deming explains. This results in better control on quality, quantity and speed of delivery. It is often possible, however, to secure castings from outside foundries at a somewhat lower cost.

THE PUMP MANUFACTURING company in Salem is an integrated plant. It molds its own iron and bronze castings and plastic parts, processing these items all the way through machining operations, assembly and shipping.

"Many competitors of the Deming Company in this country are located in areas where labor costs are considerably lower. To be able to sell pumps at a comparable or competitive price, every means must be used to reduce costs throughout manufacturing and sales. Profits, in turn, can be used to pay a fair rate to stockholders for their investment in the company, as well as for manufacturing and production expansion," Mr. Deming said.

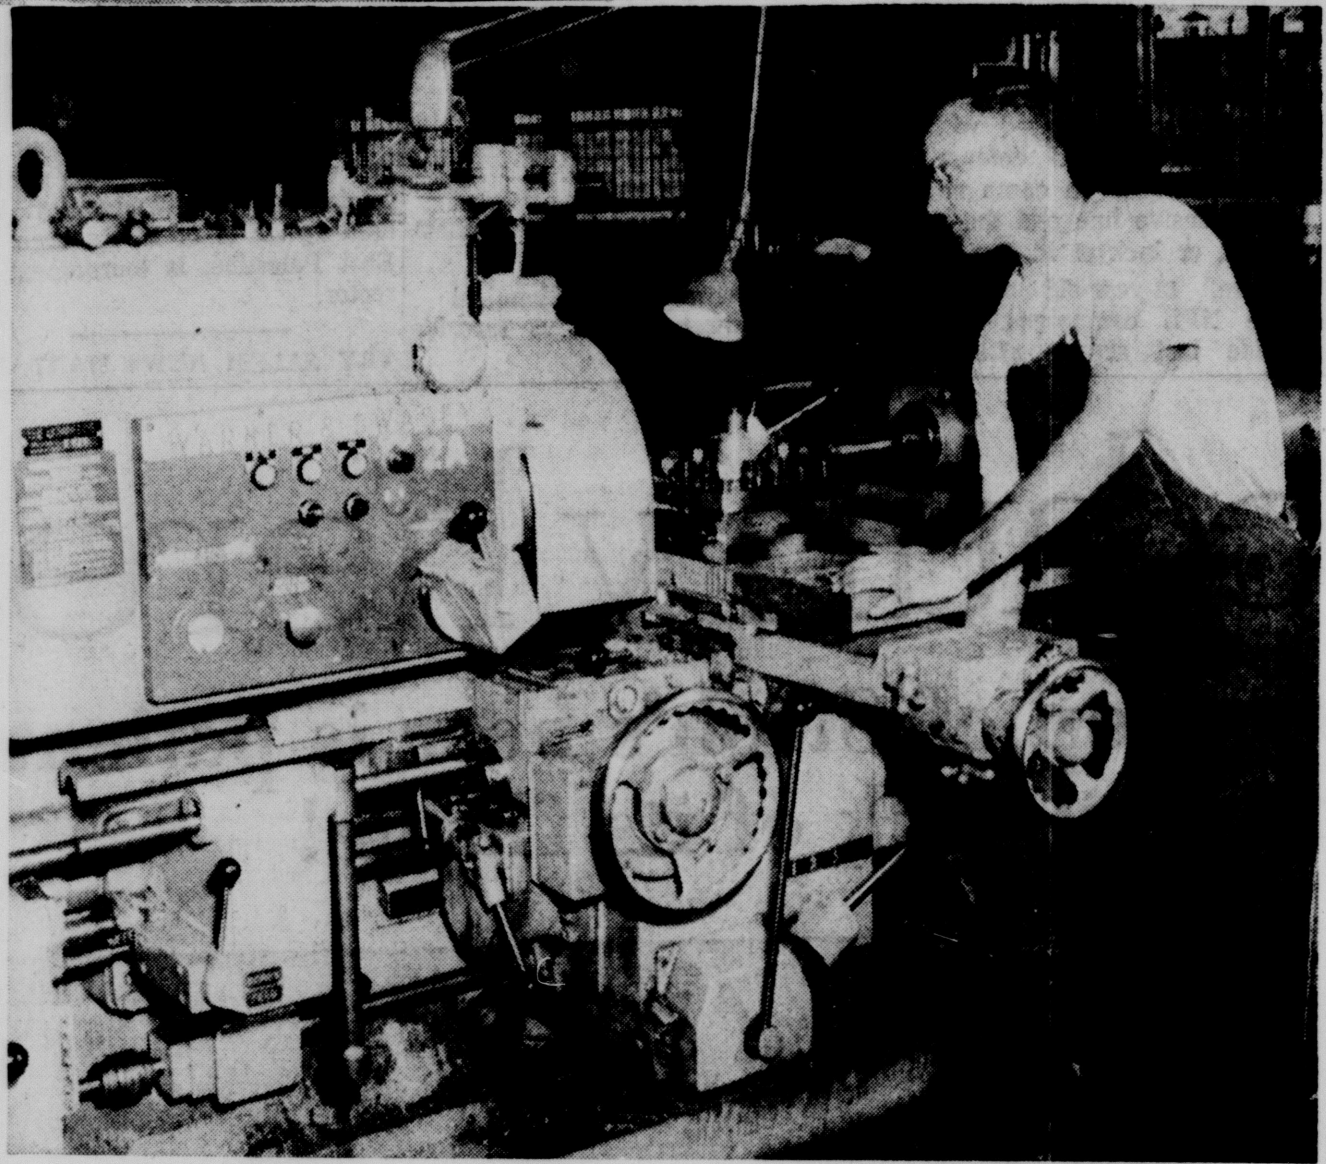

"To accomplish this and to be able to continue to enjoy the many fine advantages of the Salem area we recently made additional investments in all types of the latest machinery."

THE PUMPS manufactured in Salem are shipped to all 50 states, as well as to over 50 outside countries.

A company official stated, "Competition, particularly from German, English and Japanese pump manufacturers, is becoming particularly noticeable in many parts of the world, and more pumps from these outside countries are being imported into the States. This makes it necessary that the manufacturing and sales costs be kept in line with competition, not only domestic, but foreign as well.

Hobbyist Bartender

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"I'm a hobbyist saloonkeeper, and a reluctant success," according to Burton Browne, who is making a fortune out of male nostalgia.

"I'm the only saloonkeeper who is listed in Who's Who in America, the Social Register, and Dun & Bradstreet."

An ex-commercial artist who once felt lucky if he got $18 for a gag cartoon, Browne is now head of a large Chicago advertising firm specializing in electronics.

But conviviality has been a life-long hobby with the big, bluff, gray-haired executive. And now his hobby has become a big business. He's on the way to become the J. C. Penney of chain-store conviviality.

"In business today you have to entertain a lot," he remarked. "But there aren't very many places where men can entertain men."

"You take a client to a supper club for a couple of drinks and a steak dinner, and what happens? By 9:30 you're both standing outside on the curb wondering what to do."

Browne and a group of friends solved the problem in 1953 by organizing a private key club "for gentlemen," deliberately decorated in the plush decor of 1906. There the tired businessman could foregather with his pals around the bowl that cheers, make deals, be pampered by beautiful waitresses dressed in scanty turn-of-the-century dance hall costumes, and sing old-time songs around an old-time tinkling piano.

"We picked a 1906 atmosphere," said Browne, "because that was the last time man was really king and millionaires really lived like millionaires."

The club was a huge success from the start. So were later clubs he organized in Manhattan and the nation's capital.

But they are only the beginning in Browne's big nostalgia bonanza. So many members complained of a lack of robust male conviviality in their own hometowns that Browne now is franchising a nationwide chain.

Twenty clubs are already under way—or being planned—in cities ranging from San Francisco to Atlanta. Browne eventually foresees a network of 200.

They are ideal for America's booming new expense account aristocracy. A lifetime membership costs $25. Any drink—from ginger ale to 50-year-old brandy—is $1.25. Sandwiches are a nickel.

"When you walk into one of the clubs," said Browne, "you are automatically a millionaire, 1906 vintage."

Although they are strictly gentlemen's clubs, members can bring their wives. But wives can't come alone.

"Surprisingly, we haven't had any objections from the wives," said Browne. "Our waitresses have to be pretty, but after five minutes a wife can see they are no threat."

"Most of our members have daughters as old as the waitresses. It's all innocent fun. The waitresses—some of them are young actresses—are for looking, not pinching," Browne said.

"If a member dates a waitress, his key is lifted—and she is fired."

Edward Everett, former president of Harvard University and senator from Massachusetts, made the principal address at the dedication of the cemetery at Gettysburg, speaking for about two hours.

Colavito's 33rd Homer Leads Tribe to 6-4 Win Over A's

McLish Posts 14th Victory

Garcia, Harshman Stop Rally In 8th

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Rocky is sockin' that long ball again. That's good news for the Cleveland Indians, who defeated the Kansas City Athletics 6-4 Monday night as Rocky Colavito clouted his 33rd home run, a double and a pair of singles.

Cal McLish won his 14th game on his fourth try, but needed eighth inning help from Mike Garcia and Jack Harshman, who finally put down a Kansas City upsurge by getting pinch-hitter Bob Cerv to ground into a double play.

The Indians built up a 6-0 lead, before the Athletics tallied two runs in the seventh and two more in the eighth and had the tying runs on the bases.

The victory cut Chicago's American League margin to 2½ games ahead of the second place Tribe. The White Sox were idle Monday night.

Before Monday night, there were voices asking: "What's wrong with Colavito?"

The Big Indians' slumber, clouted on to power the Tribe to a pennant, had managed only 17 hits in 94 at bats for a .181 average. His batting average had plunged to .265 in one of his worst slumps.

Rocky's booming bat Monday night quieted the critics, for now at least.

Colavito led the Tribe's 12-hit attack on five Kansas City pitchers. The only time he was retired was in the ninth on a fly to left field. He drove in two runs and scored a pair.

Colavito's homer, a shot over the left center field fence, broke a scoreless tie in the fourth inning. The Indians tallied another run in the fifth inning. Jim Piersall singled, stole second and third and scored on Minnie Minoso's double.

Cleveland added three more in a wild sixth inning. Colavito led off with a single, went to third on Baxes' double but then was trapped in a rundown on Woodie Held's grounder to second.

Rocky was tagged out by third baseman Hal Smith, but umpire Charlie Berry ruled catcher Frank House had interfered with Colavito's path on the baseline and permitted the run to come home. Then Russ Nixon drove in Baxes from third with a sacrifice fly and Piersall's single scored Held.

The A's broke through McLish in the seventh on two singles, a pitch that hit Roger Maris to load the bases and Dick Williams' sharp single to center.

The Kansas City crew, which went down to its seventh straight loss, scored two more runs in the eighth off Garcia, who took up the hurling at the start of the inning.

Ray Boone and Bill Tuttle drove in the runs with singles. Harshman took over the pitching with one out and runners on first and second. Cerv was sent up as a pinch hitter and bounced a grounder to Baxes who started the double play.

Harshman then set the A's down in order in the ninth.

Jim Grant (7-4) goes against Kansas City's Bud Daley (12-7), a former southpaw knuckleballer for the Indians, in the second of the four-game night series here tonight.

SAIDC Ousted from Tourney; Leetonia Wins

Unbeaten Farmers, Shaffers to Tangle

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Farmers Bank and Shaffer Ford, the only two unbeaten teams remaining in the double elimination county softball tournament, will meet head-on at 7:30 tonight at Kelley Field in the finals of the winners bracket.

The pair of cinderella clubs earned their way into the finals last night by defeating two other previously unbeaten outfits. Farmers scored six times in the fifth inning to upset Stepanics 9-8 and Shaffers had a relatively easy time with Beloit Weizencker's Grocery, winning 8-4.

Once powerful SAIDC was humiliated last night by American Vitrified of East Liverpool who knocked them out of the tournament with an 8-3 smashing. Leetonia OSI ousted East Liverpool's other entry, Y.E.L.P., 6-5 in an 11-inning marathon.

Neither Farmers nor Shaffers was given much notice by pre-tournament dopsters. They weren't even considered for one of the four seeded spots in the tournament. Farmers barely has played .500 ball in Salem's Class AA League. It stands at eight wins and seven losses.

Shaffers is the fourth place club in the same league with an 11 and 6 record.

FARMERS LAST NIGHT picked up Glenn Mercer for 11 hits to dump Stepanics into the losers bracket. Eight Farmers batters broke into the hit column. All but four of the hits came in the big fifth inning. Six singles, a double and an error made the usually rugged Mercer look like just another pitcher.

Joe Vogelhuber relieved starter Hank Miller on the mound for Farmers and got credit for the win. Sloppy fielding and Miller's wildness gave Stepanics a four run jump in the first inning. They made it 6-0 in the second before Farmers got rolling.

Shaffers pounded out 14 hits, three of them by pitcher Bruce Feicht, to manhandle Beloit. Don Brudery hammered a two-run homer in the sixth for Shaffers after Beloit had pulled within two runs the previous inning on John Baker's line shot over the left field fence.

Richmond Tops Buffalo by 1-0

Columbus Dumps Rochester 6-1

By The Associated Press

While Jim Bronstad didn't swoop through Yankee Stadium like a comet during his June and July stay he didn't stand idly about either. New York Yankee pitching coach Jim Turner had an interested pupil.

It's paid off for the International League's Richmond Vees who got Bronstad at the end of last month for more seasoning. He has won his three starts, the latest Monday night being a 1-0, one-hitter over league-leading Buffalo, though getting relief help from Johnny James in the ninth. Columbus defeated Rochester 6-1 in the only other International League action.

Bobby Morgan's one out single in the eighth was Buffalo's only hit, while loser Chris Short (12-5) gave only two and struck out seven. Ma Surkont pitched the eighth for the Bisons.

Columbus' Al Jackson followed up his two-hit, 1-0 victory last week over Montreal with a four-hitter, retiring the last 18 Rochester batters in order. His record is now 10-3, as he struck out six, and gave the only run on Gene Green's 16th homer.

Seven teams now remain in the tourney from the original field of 17. Besides unbeaten Shaffers and Farmers, there are five teams each with one loss. They are Beloit, Stepanics, Salona Supply, Leetonia and American Vitrified.

Three more teams will be out of the running after tonight's games.

Detroiters are an 'Iffy' Club

Rote and Johnson Could Lead Lions To Successful Season

DETROIT (AP)—If John Henry Johnson and Tobin Rote can come back and have good years, if the offensive line can provide protection for the passer if the injury bug keeps its distance, then 1959 might be a pretty good year for the Detroit Lions.

Otherwise, the unpredictable Detroiters may be headed for another second division disaster in the Western Division of the National Football League.

The Lions are an "iffy" club and Coach George Wilson, though a confessed optimist, is the first to admit it.

"We have the kind of club that could go either way," he explained. "We lost quite a few men but we have a good bunch of aggressive sophomores. And we like our rookie crop, especially some of those big linemen and fullback Nick Pietrosante."

Wilson is inclined to believe the Lions will be with his club.

Indications are that the Lions, who had a shabby 4-7-1 record last year, are blessed with fine ends and a good defense. Big question marks in camp now are the offensive line and the scoring punch, or lack of it.

Rote, 31-year-old veteran of nine NFL campaigns, was off-stride last season after taking over the No. 1 quarterback spot by himself when the club dealt off Bobby Layne to Pittsburgh.

Rote said his trouble stemmed from an aching shoulder. Off-season surgery repaired the damage and Rote is confident of a good season. Challenging him for the job are Earl Morrall and Jerry Reichow.

The Lions' ground offense was one of the league's weakest last season. Johnson hobbled around all year with an assortment of injuries and the rest of the runners were so ineffective that Rote himself was the club's leading ground gainer with 351 yards gained.

Pietrosante, a big rookie from Notre Dame, may be the power runner the Lions have been seeking. If he proves he can do the job at fullback, Wilson may move Johnson to halfback. Wilson already announced that Hopalong Cassidy, used mainly as a receiver last season, will be called upon for more running.

Coach Bruce reminds all prospects that no player will be permitted to take part in practice sessions which get underway on Aug. 20 until he has been examined by Dr. McConnor.

The coach also reports that there are still openings on the squad for student managers. Interested candidates may contact him at Reilly Stadium Thursday morning.

Both Are Factors In Dwindling Minors

TV, Transportation Both Affect Baseball

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Second of a Series
NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Ford Frick, who signs the World Series and All-Star game telecasts, believes television and modern transportation are huge factors in the dwindling interest in minor league baseball.

He also says he believes undesirable to return to 59 minor leagues, which operated in 1949. Only 21 are now in existence.

"The telecasting of major league games into minor league territory is always cited as the primary cause," he said. "Unquestionably this practice, which incidentally, we have no way of controlling, has affected minor league interest but so, too, has the impact of television as an entertainment."

"To me, more important than any of this is the fact that modern transportation and modern communications have made it possible for people in smaller towns to enjoy the advantages of big town living."

Back in 1947 a survey of the minors by President George M. Trautman disclosed that 343 of 344 clubs said they wanted their games broadcast by radio, whether compensated or not.

In 1950, when major league broadcasts started flooding the airways, the late Robert L. Finch, minor league promotional director, wrote in his authoritative "Story of Minor League Baseball":

"The business managers of minor leagues throughout the nation think they know the answer — the death of minor league baseball."

His words were prophetic.

On the crumbling of the minors, the commissioner said:

"I don't believe we will ever again see 59 minor leagues in operation. Nor do I think it is desirable."

"I would rather see 30 solid, financially sound leagues than to return to a 50-league level with half the leagues on the verge of bankruptcy."

Yankees Edge Red Sox 7-4

Ford Gets Credit For 12th Victory

By The Associated Press
Rocky Colavito, the guy who must hit if the Indians are to win the American League pennant, is back on the beam and all Cleveland fans are breathing easier today.

In 25 games before Monday night, Colavito managed only 17 hits in 94 times at bat for a .131 average and the Indians dropped from a first place tie with Chicago to three games in back of the league leading White Sox.

In five times at bat Monday Colavito, hammered a homerun, a double and two singles. He drove in two runs and scored twice to take personal charge of the Indians 6-4 victory over Kansas City.

The triumph inched the Indians up to within 2½ games of the idle White Sox.

In the only other league scheduled game, the New York Yankees defeated the Boston Red Sox 7-4 in 10 innings for their fifth straight triumph.

The San Francisco Giants nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2 in the only game played in the National League.

The Yankees staged a real Merriwell finish to defeat the Red Sox. Held to four hits and no runs through eight innings by Frank Sullivan, and trailing 4-0, they put together a walk, hit batsman and four singles to score four runs in the ninth to tie. Elston Howard, Heck Lopez, Cleto Boyer and pinch hitter Norm Siebern got the hits, all singles.

In the tenth, two walks and singles by Yogi Berra, Howard and Lopez, off loser Al Schroll and Nelson Chittum, produced three runs for New York.

Whitey Ford, fourth Yankee pitcher, was credited with the victory, his 12th against six defeats.

CARD OF THANKS

THANKS is expressed to all who helped in any way or form during the time of sickness and death of my wife, Mrs. Charles Coleman. Thanks for the many cards during her illness, for the kind sympathy and cards. Especially do I like to thank my good neighbors Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Hillard who were indeed of the greatest help, and to those who sent flowers from far and near.

I wish to express my gratitude to the funeral committee of the First

Friends Church, especially to Mrs.

Lloyd Parker who so nobly helped provide and serve the meal. Thanks to Rev. Harold B. Winn for his consoling message at this time. The Stark Memorial was just wonderful to me. May God bless every one of you.

An enlightening report on the slow progress of desegregation in the South can be found in "The Southern Temper" by William Peters. The author toured the South interviewing persons everywhere he went trying to find what forces were working for desegregation and what degrees of success they were having.

Another new book that studies aspects of segregation along with a variety of other things is "A History of Western Morals" by Crane Brinton. The definitions of good and evil in everyday life throughout the history of Western civilization are surveyed as they deal with business ethics, religion, crime, race relations, etc.

FICTION
"California Street" by Niven Busch. The death of Jessica Sixe is the starting point for this novel of San Francisco - of the beautiful Jessica and her three daughters; of Anchilus, publisher of the San Francisco Day; and of the family feud resulting from Jessica's will.

"Light Infantry Ball" by Hamilton Basso. On a January day in 1861, John Bottomley of Pompey's Head was faced with a duel, the disappearance of his younger brother, and the rapidly increasing threat of a Civil War in which he could not believe.

"Long Way North" by Jim Bosworth. A cattle driven from Texas to Montana with all its dangers and hardships - lack of water, stampedes, storms, etc., as reported by Charles Wood, an easterner who took part in the drive.

"Short Cases of Inspector Maigret" by Georges Simenon. Five mysteries set in and around Paris, starring the author's famous French detective.

"Command and the Morning" by Pearl S. Buck. A fictitious recreation of the making of the atomic bomb and the momentous decisions that the scientists in charge had to make. The emphasis is upon the scientists rather than the science.

"Carolians" by Jane Barry. Benton's crossing was loyal to the English king during the Revolution and so were the Quantrells until Sabrina fell in love with one of Morgan's colonial troopers, and Grant turned against the Tories and his father.

"Run from the Mountains" by William Groninger. Nineteen-year-old Herman Wakeley's experiences as a peacetime soldier in Japan where he is exposed to loose morals, and black market activities; and joins right in because he does not know how to fight them.

"Young Titan" by F. VanWyck Mason. A long novel of the border warfare among French, Indians, and Maine settlers. Bart Mayhew had built a shipyard at Tenby; here he and his brothers and their friends battled the elements and their enemies.

"Exploits of Tommy Hambledon" by Manning Coles. A reissue of three early Tommy Hambledon mystery tales including the incomparable "Drink to Yesterday." "Empire City" by Paul Goodman. The events in the lives of the Algers who lived in New York City from the depression to the start of World War II. The narrative is filled with symbolism and the author's attempts to explain the background of our times.

NON-FICTION

"How to Get the Best Education for Your Child" by Benjamin and Lillian Fine. An informative report on American school conditions, with a survey of what a child should learn in each grade from nursery school through senior high school. This book will help parents evaluate their child's schools and their child's abilities.

"DuBarry" by Stanley Loomis. From shop to guillotine, here is the story of the beautiful and enchanting Jeanne Becu, daughter of a seamstress, who became Madame DuBarry and queen in all but title of France.

"Industrial Journalism Today" by J. A. McCloskey. A survey of the newer ideas that are being used in company publications to make them more attractive to employers and their families.

"War is a Private Affair" by E. G. Love. The author tells about the soldiers, both officers and enlisted men whose individuality was too strong for army standardizing. These men showed their individuality by performing deeds of valor, or deeds of almost outrageous illegality, or deeds of high humor.

"Kenneth Gahame" by Peter Green. A biography and study of the banker who wrote the great classic, "The Wind in the Willows." The paradox of the dreamer who was also an astute businessman is deftly handled.

"A Special Committee of the American Bar Association of New York and the National Legal Aid and Defender Association tells how an accused person without means can secure capable legal advice.

"A History of Western Technology" by Friedrich Klemm. This book shows the important role technology has played during each epoch of Western history. The book covers the entire period of Western civilization.

"Family Quarrel" by Elswyth Thane. An account of the battles leading to the surrender of the British at Yorktown during the Revolution. This is a very readable account dealing more with the individuals who did the fighting than with military logistics.

"Common Sense and Nuclear Warfare" by Bertrand Russell. The well known philosopher and writer gives his specific plan for peace as an alternative to the destruction of an atomic war.

"Wife Dressing" by Anne Fogarty. From the title one would think that this book was directed toward male readers. Instead it is a book for wives who want their husbands to be proud of them.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Artificial Limbs Tremendously Improved

Probably there are between one and one and a half million citizens of the United States alone who have lost one or more limbs through amputation.

There are many reasons for amputation, including war, accident and disease. But the problem facing the amputee is not alike: It depends on whether he has lost an arm or a leg (or more than one), at what point the amputation was made, the occupation of the person involved and many other things.

SINCE 1945, modern science has attacked the problems of the amputee on a broad front with a research program involving the combined skills of engineering and medicine.

As a result of this activity, individuals who have lost limbs or parts of limbs, and those born with malformed or missing limbs, can now look forward to being fitted with effective substitutes.

These now provide opportunity for living again the normal life of independence. In the otherwise healthy individual, amputation is today no longer a bar to leading an almost normal life.

The amputee today is fitted and trained by a group of individuals known as an "amputee clinic team." Together they apply to the patient the skills of the physician, the limb-maker (or prosthetist), and the physical and occupational therapist.

WORKING AS a team, they prescribe the exact type of artificial limb best suited to each amputee.

After the device has been carefully manufactured by the limb-maker, the amputee undergoes a period of training conducted by the therapist member of the team. Finally the limb and the patient's use of it are checked with all members of the amputee team together.

Among the dozens of new research items now available for amputees are:

A VOLUNTARY closing type of hand that can pick up a brick or gently hold an ice cream cone. It is covered with a lifelike cosmetic.

An ingenious hydraulic knee glove of vinyl plastic, which automatically simulates the motions of the leg and permits an amputee to bear his full weight on his artificial limb in going up and down stairs.

A suction socket for amputees who have lost the leg above the knee, which eliminates body harnessing and gives the wearer a feeling that the appliance is an actual part of the body.

Investigation, study and research continue. The problems involved in reproducing mechanically the functions of a human extremity are complicated. But the future holds high promise of further improvements.
